

VIDEO
AVAILABLE
SPRING
2012

Diversity Awareness in the Construction Industry

How people treat one another matters. Today's construction job site brings together men and women working side by side, people of different colors, cultures, generations, religions, sexual orientations, trades, experiences worldviews, attitudes and assumptions. Making differences work is a priority. Failure to do so disrupts the job site.

The cost – stressful working conditions, distraction, turnover, absenteeism, accidents, compromised quality, poor teamwork and in some cases, legal liability. The list goes on.

Diversity Awareness in the Construction Industry, created by the Skilled Trades Diversity Council of Central New York is a training resource to address issues of diversity, recognition and respect on the job site.

Realistic workplace scenarios provide a resource

Sexual Harassment

Gender & Generational Diversity

Racial Diversity

to stimulate and focus learning through interactive, facilitated dialogue.

Diversity Awareness in the Construction Industry

- ✓ Three stand alone training vignettes
- ✓ Authentic job site setting & shop talk
- ✓ Performances by the Cornell Interactive Theatre Ensemble
- ✓ Facilitator's Training Guide by Henderson Woods, LLC
- ✓ DVD or VHS format

Diversity Awareness in the Construction Industry was produced with funding support from the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. For pricing and order information, contact The Diversity Skilled Trades Diversity Council.

Tel: 607/272-3122 E-mail: ckittle@centralny.twcbc.com

Skilled Trades Diversity Council

BUILDING
THE FUTURE

